

FEET

Slowly becoming a common menace
with a heart empty like an autumn terrace Kept on watching the beauties listened to the beats they shook the booties and the heat

Refrain:

Was rising, as I rose from my seat
But I could still stand on my feet Ready to leave this clumsy scene and your anger tasted like vitamine

I told myself, I'm a star, I'm an ace
The drink was sweet as your embrace Bumped into a broker and a libertine

Slowly becoming a common menace
with a heart empty like an autumn terrace
Kept on watching the beauties listened to the beats
they shook the booties and the heat

Refrain.

As I babbled tasted the bubbles in my mouth and I wondered why don't we fly down south We be out of reach on the beach Pretty asses as round as rippen peach Surround us like on a market place I'm so cool, I'm a star, an ace and as my hands dig up the hot sand I wonder how I won in the end

Well it's over well- well done
And we go now into the sun
